

Why do I have to enter payment data for the free trial version?

Every user has the opportunity to test SpyOFF free of charge. To ensure that this option is not abused and multiple accounts are created by the same person, we request your payment data for verification upon registration.

In case you want to use SpyOFF after the free trial period, your data is already stored, thus guaranteeing seamless online protection.

As a matter of fact, you will only be charged if the free trial has already expired and you have decided to continue using SpyOFF. If you cancel within the test phase, your bank account or your credit card will not be charged.
